No Braces Required

So, you've always dreamed of straightening your teeth but the thought of wearing braces has kept you from going ahead with your plans. What if you could get that smile you always wanted without wearing braces?

It's now possible!

The use of clear aligners can straighten teeth using a series of clear, almost invisible, removable aligners. The doctor prescribes a series of custom-made clear aligners that move teeth in very precise increments.

The aligners are made of a thin, clear plastic that fits over your teeth. With a series of successive corrective aligners that are changed bi-weekly, the teeth are moved into their new desired position.

The treatment's duration and results are comparable to that of braces.

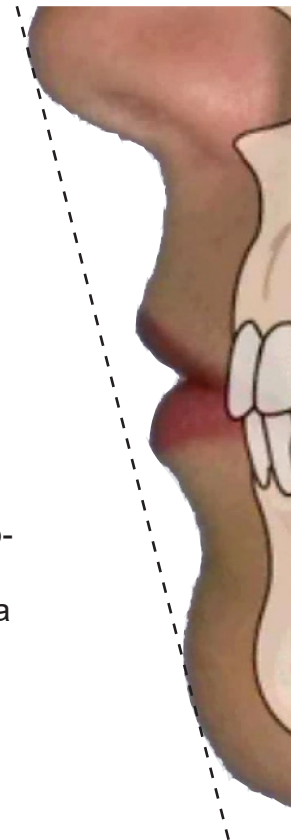

Clear aligners therapy has evolved over the last few years and the achieved technological advances have made it possible to treat an ever increasing number of malocclusions.

All Dents Droites Drs have received special training in clear aligner therapy.

More than just straight teeth

When most patients think of orthodontics, whether that be with braces or with clear aligners, they usually believe it's all about straightening the teeth. While that's one aspect of orthodontic treatment, an equally important goal is to properly position the teeth taking into account their relationship to facial aesthetics.

The positioning of the front teeth (incisors) plays a crucial role in supporting the lips and thereby creating a harmonious balance between the chin, the lips and the nose. This can greatly improve the look of a person's profile.

What do YOU want?

There's always more than one way to treat a given orthodontic problem. This is why the Dr must first and foremost find out what YOU want. Then he will usually discuss of several alternative treatment plans with you while giving you the pros and cons of each plan.

It's limited goal is to align the front teeth quickly using white brackets. Ask us for more information on accelerated orthodontics and the compromise treatments available to you.
